Minister of Health, Province of British Columbia

Margaret MacDiarmid was appointed Minister of Health on September 5, 2012.

Elected MLA for Vancouver-Fairview in the 2009 general provincial election, Margaret previously served as Minister of Labour, Citizens' Services and Open Government, Minister of Tourism, Trade and Investment and Minister Responsible for Intergovernmental Relations and Minister of Education and Minister Responsible for Early Learning and Literacy.

Margaret has been a family physician for 23 years. She served on the board of the BC Medical Association for 12 years and was president in 2006-2007.

Margaret experienced the health care system as a patient after an early diagnosis of breast cancer in 2007. She received treatment and has fully recovered.

Originally from Saskatchewan, Margaret and her husband Robert moved to Rossland, B.C. in 1989. Since the mid-1990s, both Robert's and Margaret's work brought them more frequently to Vancouver, where ultimately they decided to settle. Margaret enjoys golf, bridge, playing piano, kayaking, and treasures the time she spends with family and friends.

Session: In addition to addressing several specific areas of interest, as identified by our Canadian College of Health Leaders BC Lower Mainland Chapter membership, the Minister will also speak on the current and emerging opportunities and limitations in health and health leadership in BC, and especially the BC Lower Mainland.
